

The First Call

Marine Medical has approved The First Call as the best maritime medical advisory service based on the following:

1. Experienced emergency medicine and remote specialty trained physicians
2. 70+ years experience in remote & telemedical maritime medical care and communication
3. Based from a well-established international hospital servicing merchant shipping, super yachts and research vessels worldwide

1.1 Services included in the annual service fee

- Registration of medical supplies and equipment carried on board
- Operations and management contact information and any specific requirements
- Medical operations manual for management and individual yachts
- Advice on travelers with specific needs
- Medical planning for long and challenging voyages
- Fitness to travel medical advice is available should there be concern that a passenger or crew member may be at risk during a voyage due to illness or injury or may have specific medical needs
- Co-ordinated medical services
- Advice on telemedicine technologies, medical supplies and equipment

1.2 Direct to Doctor service – all calls included in the annual fee

- Direct to Doctor medical advice for those on the yacht
- Support during and after emergency
- Reporting and liaison with an individual's personal physician, if required
- Provision, through our networks, of advice on the nearest suitable medical facilities, anywhere in the world

Voted the most professional medical care choice in on-board 24/7 medical advisory services,

The First Call maritime clients include Woods Hole Oceanographic Research Institute, Chevron Shipping, Shell's offshore installations and M.Y and S.Y of all sizes from many nations.